

COWAN, GUNTESKI & Co., P.A.
Certified Public Accountants and Consultants

Telemedicine - Is It Right for You and Your Practice?

In an era of continuously advancing technology, is telemedicine beneficial to your patients?

Telemedicine is an increasingly popular topic these days, but it's important to look at all options and parameters before deciding whether this is a good fit for your medical practice. The increase in telemedicine is relative to consumer demands for immediate, convenient medical care without having to physically go to a physician office. Healthcare providers can contract with one of many telemedicine companies to provide care to the general public or limit this service to existing practice patients. We've even seen an increase in coverage by major insurance carriers of telemedicine services.

Click here to read our article outlining the pros and cons of telemedicine implementation.

As rapid technological advances make telemedicine and diagnostic testing easier to accomplish, we'll likely see a greater acceptance of telemedicine by the public. Our CG Healthcare Experts can help you determine if telemedicine is a good fit for your practice. Contact Mike Lewis, MBA, FACMPE and Deb Mathis, CPA, CHBC today.

Have concerns about your medical practice?
CG Healthcare Experts Mike Lewis, MBA, FACMPE and Deb Mathis, CPA, CHBC can analyze the impacts of healthcare industry changes on your practice.
Contact them today.

How CG Can Grow Your Practice

Connect with us

